

List of edged weapons originating from Belluno and Tyrol (as of May 2022)

The KLANG project has set itself the challenge, among other things, of registering all the swords that originate from Belluno and Tyrol and are now in museums and collections all over the world. The Innsbruck team concentrated mainly on research in the databases of international museums but was also able to document numerous objects on site. Here now we present the result of our research, which includes well over 500 objects in a commented list:

Explanation of the layout: The list begins with the consecutive SDB number (abbreviation for Sword Data Base) and then categorises the object (e.g. sword, rapier or schiavona). For a more precise definition of medieval swords, the Oakeshott typology is also included. The point "Connection to Belluno" ("Con. Bel.") defines the affiliation to the territory and is divided into several categories:

- Yes: Certainly comes from Belluno
- No: Does not originate from Belluno, although it is stated that it is from Belluno
- Rather yes: Very probably from Belluno but cannot be said with certainty for lack of clear evidence (smith's mark)
- Rather not: Probably not from Belluno, as the object looks similar to typical objects, but for various reasons (e.g. style and decoration) does not come from the region
- Probably: The object probably comes from Belluno, but a definite statement cannot be made for various reasons (mostly lack of image material)
- Imitation: Imitation of a Bellunese object
- Imitation?: Based on the available visual material, it is not clear whether it is an imitation or not
- Tirol: An object that comes from the area of the county of Tyrol but was not produced in Belluno

This is followed by the dating, the most important measurements, and the current location of the object with a link, if available. Also noted are smithery marks and inscriptions.

SDB00193	Dagger		probably	Filigree dagger with cutlery, elaborately cast elements in gold and silver, antique and figural decoration, blade with gold inlays, cutlery knife also gold inlays, scabbard with elaborate figural decoration in gold and silver. This dagger is rightly considered to be one of the most valuable pieces in the Hermitage Arsenal. Probably created in a northern Italian workshop, it is amazing in terms of its perfect decoration and elegance. The massive damascened blade is covered with the finest ornament in gold inlay, while the handle is carved of agate of rare beauty. The gilded silver mount of the sheath is decorated with chased images of scenes from Classical mythology. The dagger was acquired by Peter the Great for his Kunstkammer (Chamber of Curiosities) and later entered the Hermitage.	1550	1599				St. Petersburg, Hermitage Museum	RUS	3.O.-2752	30,314614	59,939878		crowned B on knife		https://www.hermitagemuseum.org/wps/portal/hermitage/digital-collection/15.%20weapons%2C%20armor/659109/lut/p/z1/04_Sj9CPykssy0xPLMnMz0vMAfijo8zi_R0dzQyNnQ28_J1NXQwc_YMCTlOc_dwNDE30w8EKDHAARwP9KGL041EQhd94L0iWAH1gVOTr7JuuH1WQWJKhm5mXlq8fYWiqp1CemliQn1eso5BYlJtfpB9hZmmpaGAJdFEUmpme3uZAMONMPfz9w5yNnE2gCvC4qiA3NKLKx8Mg01FREQDSvuc2/dz/d5/L2dBISEvZ0FBIS9nQSEh/?lng=en
